BEFORE YOU GENERATE

How this book works

1. Make the reference sheets first. The cast pages give you one prompt per character and one for the blue tin. Generate them, then attach them as references in every frame.
2. Work through the frames in order. Every prompt is complete on its own. Copy the grey box straight into your image tool.
3. Match the timecodes. Each frame shows when it appears in the voiceover. The grey VO lines mark the narration.
4. Keep the bottom 15% clear. Every frame leaves room for captions.

The light warms as the money rises

Cold flickering fluorescent at Level 1. Rich gold at Level 8. Flashbacks are always desaturated and cold. The outro drops back to Level 1 light.

Four motifs to keep identical

The blue tin

Nana's dented snowflake tin. Two folded twenties at Level 1. Your ten twenties at Level 5. Untouched at Level 8.

$35

The overdraft fee on $3.79 of soap. It comes back on a boardroom slide as $212 million.

"We're fine."

Dad's line. Over the hours cut, the electric bill, the truck, the diagnosis.

The Porch

The family group chat. Loud at first. Then quiet. Then a second chat without you.

Locked style (already inside every prompt)

A long elegant dinner table in the protagonist's house, everyone smiling politely, plates perfect, no speech bubbles at all. The protagonist is a young man with an oversized head, messy curly jet-black hair, thick black rectangular glasses, heavy half-lidded tired eyes with faint dark under-eye lines, thick slightly furrowed black eyebrows, pale off-white skin and a small flat frowning mouth, always deadpan, wearing a dark tailored jacket over a black tee, and is the darkest value in the frame. Character notes: Uncle Pete is a heavyset man in his sixties with a ruddy face, a bushy gray beard, a rust-colored baseball cap and suspenders; Renée is a woman in her mid-twenties with long dark hair in a high ponytail, freckles and an olive bomber jacket; Mom is a soft-faced woman in her late fifties with short graying curly hair, reading glasses on a beaded chain and a maroon cardigan; Dad is a weathered man in his late fifties with a gray buzz cut, a thick gray mustache and deep-set tired eyes, wearing a faded navy work jacket over a plaid flannel shirt. Style: flat 2D cartoon webcomic illustration, bold clean black outlines, flat cel shading, desaturated slate-blue and gray palette with muted olive, rust, mustard and maroon accents, detailed lived-in background, semi-chibi characters with oversized heads, layered foreground, mid-ground and background, 16:9 frame with the bottom 15% kept clear of important detail.
